An automated expense and travel solution – powered by Findity

VIEW Ledger is a technology-driven supplier of system solutions, financial management services and consulting services in the cloud.

With 250 employees across Norway and Sweden, we deliver ERP-systems and BPO-services to organisations throughout the region.

Challenges

An outdated solution

We were not satisfied with our old expense management solution. It didn't live up to user expectations, and multiple systems had to be involved, naturally slowing down the expense process.

The right know-how and expertise

Creating easy-to-use solutions is a work of art, and developing something as complex as an expense management solution demands real expertise and know-how – something we did not have inhouse. Therefore, we had to find a reliable partner who could provide the expertise we needed.

Solution

We looked for an easy-to-use and cloud-based expense management solution that could both automate our customers' expense claims and integrate directly with ERP-systems, like Xledger.

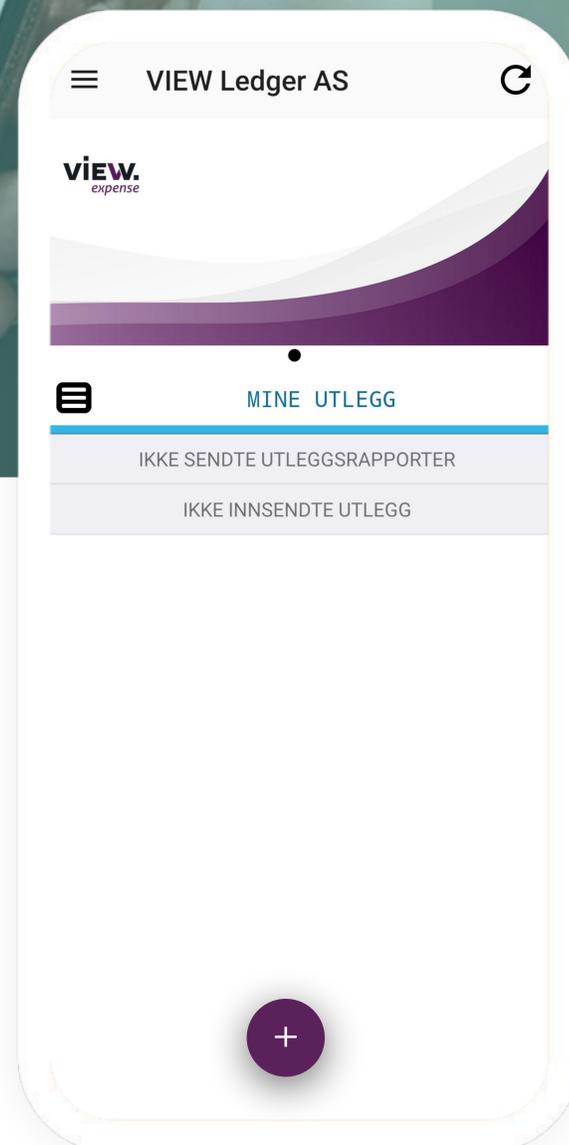

Findity was the obvious choice for us. Their expense management platform is a proven solution in the Nordics, and it exceeded all our technical requirements and expectations.

Cherry on top, the white-label capabilities of the platform gave us a branded solution that fits perfectly with our existing offering.

Result

Happy clients!

Our clients are delighted with VIEW Expense; they often share how happy their employees are and how much time they're now saving in each step of the process. We believe that customers now can save up to 60% of the time they used to spend on expense claims.

4 Success factors

Partnering and working with Findity is a privilege, from the project phase to our launch, it's been an easy collaboration. Here are a couple of success factors from our initial collaboration:

1. Partnership in the project
2. Structured approach
3. Straightforward plans
4. Competency in Expense Management

"We're always looking for ways to add value to our clients and to keep them satisfied. By partnering with Findity, we could easily white-label our own expense management software which helps automate and simplify the time-consuming process for our clients."
